HIDDEN BLESSINGS

On Tuesday, Aug 20th 2019, I had prostate surgery. I had to stay in the hospital overnight. The next Monday at 8 a.m. they took the catheter out at the doctor's office. The nurse told me if I couldn't urinate by 3 p.m. to come back. I still couldn't go by 3 p.m. so they put it back in. That night I was so sick I had to go to the ER. As a part of the ER exam they did an MRI to see why I was so sick. They found (having nothing to do with the catheter) that I also had a blood clot in my lung. If I had not gone back to the ER, I would not have known I had a blood clot in my lung and could have eventually had a stroke or died. It is amazing how the Lord blesses us sometimes without us even knowing it. I was so disappointed to have to go back to the ER that night, not realizing it was actually a wonderful (maybe even live saving) blessing. I am so grateful for all the prayers and well wishes sent my way. They say friends are worth more than gold. I believe that with all my heart and because of it, Janice and I are a very very rich with so many golden friends.

I guess Leah must have taken this funny picture of me when they told me I had to stay in the hospital.
